Report of the Event

The objective of the Legal Awareness Program on the Industrial and Environment (Protection) Act is to introduce B.Tech first-year students to the importance of environmental protection laws and their role in industrial practices. It aims to help students understand how these laws ensure sustainable development and prevent harm to the environment caused by industrial activities. The Legal Awareness Program on the Industrial and Environment (Protection) Act provides B.Tech first-year students with an understanding of the laws designed to protect the environment from industrial pollution and harmful practices. It focuses on educating students about their responsibilities in ensuring compliance with these laws and promoting sustainable industrial development. The outcome of the Legal Awareness Program on the Industrial and Environment (Protection) Act is that B.Tech first-year students will gain a clear understanding of environmental laws and their role in promoting sustainable industrial practices. Students will also be better equipped to recognize and address environmental issues in their future careers, ensuring compliance with legal regulations.
